Beacy Champion Dads

In the last weekend of term one, 52 families had a magical time on the inaugural "Fathering Project Rottnest Island Camp". It began with an excited ferry ride on Friday afternoon (kids got out of school a little early!) over to the Rottnest island campground - which is located right next door to the Rottnest island school campus. Setting up the tents with the kids was the first challenge, but it was rewarded with a beautiful evening sunset, accompanied by pizzas, a swim, spotlighting and some stargazing.

The following day we had breakfast up at the Rottnest school campus, which allowed the kids to see the differences and delights of being a Rottnest student. Activities throughout the day included geocaching (loads of fun searching for hidden markers), a cycling tour with Rottnest volunteer guides over to the ruins of the Thompson's farm (a beautiful step back in time) and a treasure hunt from some local pirates (pirate Pete was even forced to walk the plank)!

The aim of the weekend was to forge bonds between the dads in the Beacy community and their children, and to increase bonds between the Beaconsfield and Rottnest Campuses.

It really was a fun weekend and I would say the Beacy community is stronger because of it. - Gabe
